

Pharmacology Department Mission Statement

Pharmacology is an exciting branch of biological and medical sciences that embraces our knowledge of how molecules affect living things. The Mission of the Department is threefold: Teaching, Research, and Community Serving.

Our mission is:

- To provide quality preclinical and clinical education in pharmacology and therapeutics for medical students, by developing novel teaching methods to educate and train graduate medical, dentistry and nursing students and postgraduate physicians.
- To carry out basic research of recognized excellence.
- To serve the community through optimizing medical therapy presented to our patients and raising their awareness of hazardous drug use and Drug abuse.
- To participate in governance and leadership in Tanta Faculty of Medicine and in appropriate national scientific and professional societies.

The department extends its facilities and cooperation to all other departments of Tanta faculty of Medicine as well as other collaborative studies, not only with other faculties of Tanta University but also with all Egyptian Universities and Scientific Institutes.
